Erratum

Risks of history of diabetes mellitus, hypertension, and other factors related to radiation-induced changes following Gamma Knife surgery for cerebral arteriovenous malformations

Clinical article

TO THE READERSHIP: Errors occurred during preparation of the article “Risks of history of diabetes mellitus, hypertension, and other factors related to radiation-induced changes following Gamma Knife surgery for cerebral arteriovenous malformations. Clinical article” (J Neurosurg 117 Suppl:144–149, 2012).

During the production process, we inadvertently misspelled the surname of one of the authors. The name Ian T. McNeill was erroneously given as Ian T. MacNeill. We wish to rectify this error. The accurate list of all authors is shown below with the corrected name in boldface:

MARK QUIGG, M.D., M.Sc.,¹ CHUN-PO YEN, M.D.,²
MICAELA CHATMAN, M.D.,¹ ANDERS H. QUIGG,³
IAN T. MCNEILL, M.S.,³ COLIN J. PRZYBYLOWSKI, B.S.,³
GUOFEN YAN, Ph.D.,⁴ AND JASON P. SHEEHAN, M.D.²

Mr. McNeill’s surname was also misspelled in the Disclosure section. We apologize to Mr. McNeill and to the readers for these errors. Both corrections were made online as of March 15, 2013.

GILLIAN SHASBY
Director of Publications–Operations
Journal of Neurosurgery Publishing Group
Charlottesville, Virginia

Please include this information when citing this paper: published online March 15, 2013; DOI: 10.3171/2013.2.GKS1245a.